DEDICATION

To the surprise of this year's Mirror Staff, the recipient of the 1986-87 Yearbook Dedication has never been previously thus honored. Teaching at North Shore for a total of thirteen years, she has captured the love and respect of the entire senior class. Although not particularly outspoken, our Dedication Choice has always been an advocate of the students, entrusting with us numerous responsibilities - a reflection of the trust and respect she has for her pupils. The fact that she was able to deal with a class of such wild, occasionally brash, seniors in such a kind and understanding manner is, indeed, a feat in itself. It is for the unfaltering faith this outstanding lady has had in us for four uninterrupted years that the senior class, with beaming admiration, dedicates the 1986-87 Mirror to Adrienne Weisse.

In Student Council this year, we were faced with the dubious task of solving problems which affected the upper school. Through the democratic process and a complex system of problem solving, the Student Council made steady progress throughout the year. Under the supervision of the noble Bill Goss (we're on a first name basis since I've recently graduated), the Student Council made progress while attempting to please everyone.

MIDDLE SCHOOL FORUM

In Middle School Forum we have approved and disapproved many suggestions. At the beginning of the year, Forum started the sale of pop, candy, and donuts to pay off the 8th grade puppets. Forum has also set up many social events for the Middle School like the lip-sync night and the purchase of video games for the social events. These are some of the results of Forum, and there are many more to come.

Opera Crew: Jann-Nicole Trujillo, Andrea Nash, Lyn Cook, Mark Ferris, Cary Kelly, Joel de la Fuente, Eric Jacobson, Jon Oakley, Rob Zgonena, Ellen Kelly, Geoff Goldman, John Kehoe, Bill Ake, Elana Fowler

One aspect of all productions that usually gets very little credit in the making and running of the play is the Stage Crew. At school, the Stage Crew is never organized, but things get done. It's this atmosphere of complete chaos that brings much of the people there. Although this is true, Stage Crew is just as important as the actors. Without the actors, the play would look, awfully silly, and without the crew, the play would look, ironically, unorganized.

This year, Automatic Parts has gotten off to a slow start because of lack of time and facilities, but we hope to be performing a few good morning-ex's by the end of the year. We've got some "new faces" as well as some "veterans" from last year and we are all coming up with some new and different material for our future M-ex's. The present members are: Colm Davis, Peter Geyer, Diane Prince, Joel de la Fuente, Ian Murphy, Fiona McDonagh, Laura Heinz, Jordan Rosen, Tanna Schwarz, Ned Wolpert, Todd Rohlen, Lisa McClung, and Rick Janson. Maggie O'Connor and Annie Aggens hope to be joining soon.

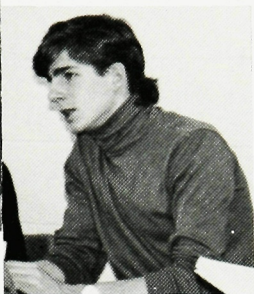

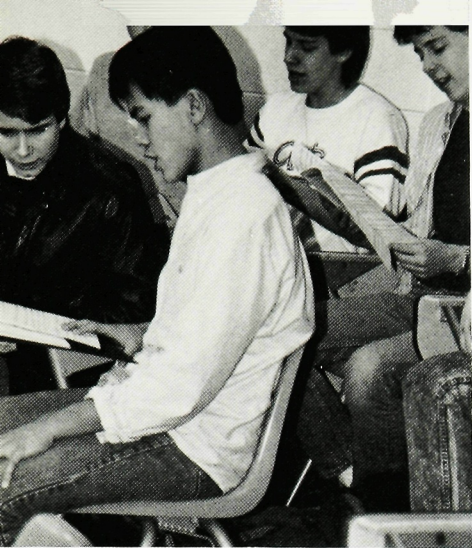

So far, we've been mainly working on improvisation and humorous skits, and we're thinking of possibly moving toward some written material (by us) to perform as well as an on going scenario, which would continue every M-ex (probably as an idea for next year). So, with some new things to look forward to, we hope to see y'all soon (in M-ex).

After Mr. Allison left North Shore, Mr. Holland took over Sangerbund. As a result, the number of students in this group has increased to about 40 students! Although there has not been a rehearsal with all members at one time, the Sangerbund still marches on. This talented group has sang everything from Christmas carols to other pieces, including musicals. Mr. Holland has kept the fire in Sangerbund burning, and we hope the fire will burn for a very long time.

Upper School Mandatory Chorus: Every single male and female student in the entire cottonpicking high school grades nine through twelve inclusive period.

IN HIS FIRST YEAR WITH MANDATORY N.S., LITTLE GEOFFERY WAS IN FOR A

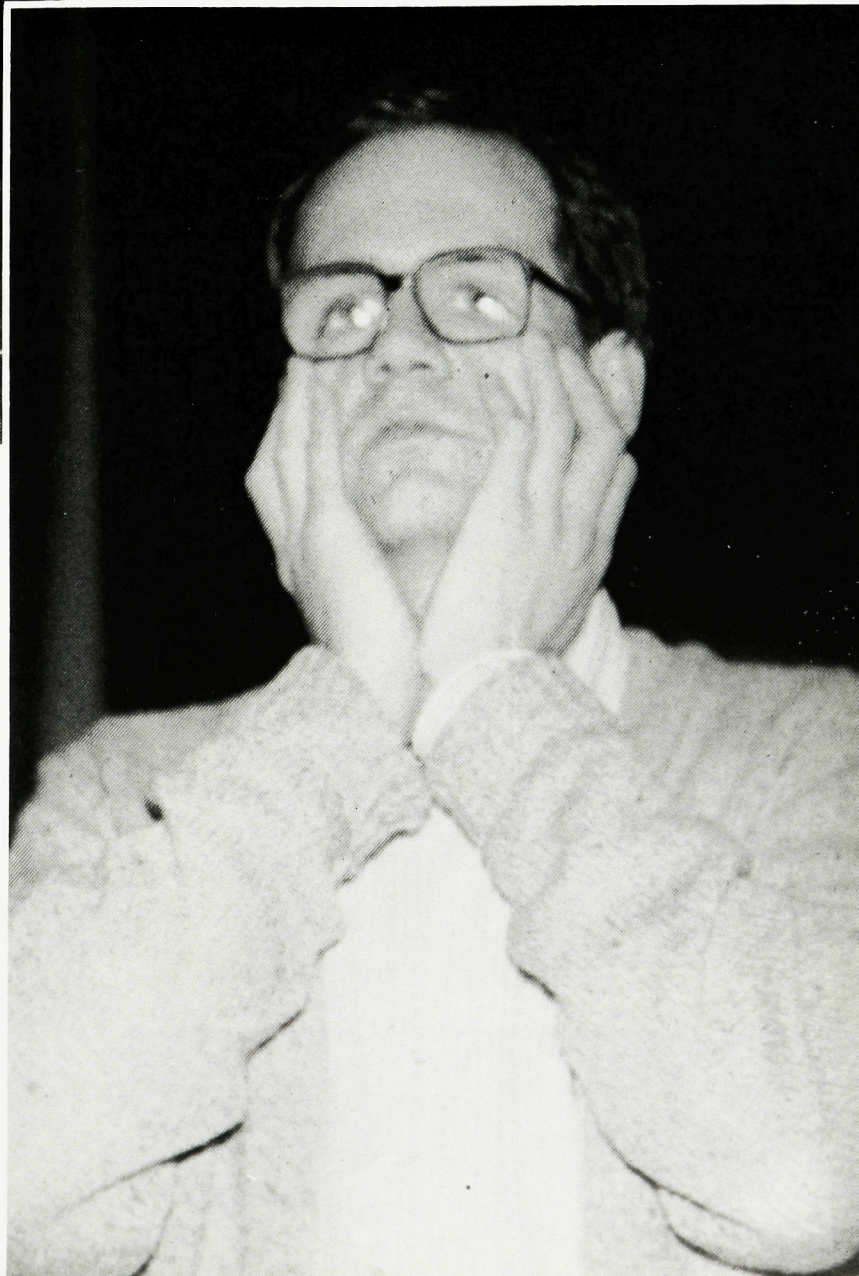

Taking over for a school legend can be quite difficult. When Geoffery Holland came to North Shore to assume the past duties of the immortal Vin Allison, Mr. Holland showed no sign of being intimidated by past tradition. An excellent musician by his own right, his new ideas and new techniques towards learning music are both refreshing and insightful. But perhaps the most revolutionary thing which may be in store for the Upper School community is the new head of music's advocacy of a voluntary chorus - a distinctive break from past philosophy. Although only time will tell, it appears as if North Shore has acquired another lasting monster talent in the arts department.

The Infamous Raoul

The human mind can take only so much. The yearbook mind can take even less. Imagine our surprise when the editors - and even a Junior - worked on weekends!!! After spending grueling hours in the place known simply as Purgatory, were we ready to quit? Were we ready to abandon the only year-long student log? Were we about to drop a responsibility hundreds of people were counting on? Well... it does get pretty bad sometimes. BUT NO!!! At the expense of our sanity, we worked and we worked and we worked...

Anyways, about our dedicated staff: The upper school's resident punk playboy Alex Gramm literally spent hundreds of hours in the dark (he spent some time taking and developing pictures too). Seriously though, he took most of the QUALITY PHOTOS in this MAHVELOUS book and we LOVE him for it!!! The only thing wrong with Alex is his incessant passion for soft rock (Menudo, Neil Sedaka) - oh, and of course he always worked at such a furious pace, it was impossible to keep up with him. Asides from that, though, working with Alex was smooth sailing.

Want to see two people try to kill each other? Just stop by the yearbook office and watch Fiona and Joel for a while. This brother/sister combo has been known to kick each other in places you're not supposed to kick each other in then make up five minutes later. When it comes to a creative tandem, these artists can't be beat! (to achieve this state of such awesome yearbook prowess, sometimes rubber cement must be applied - see photo above)

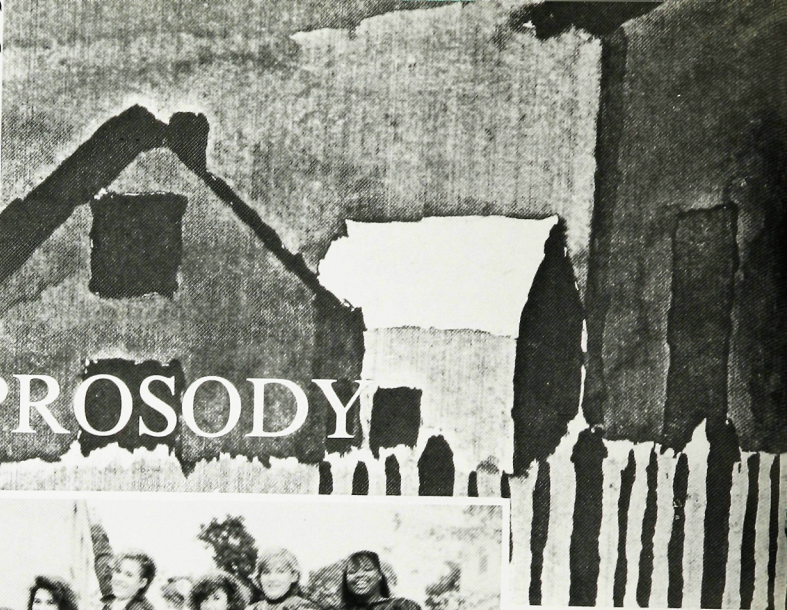

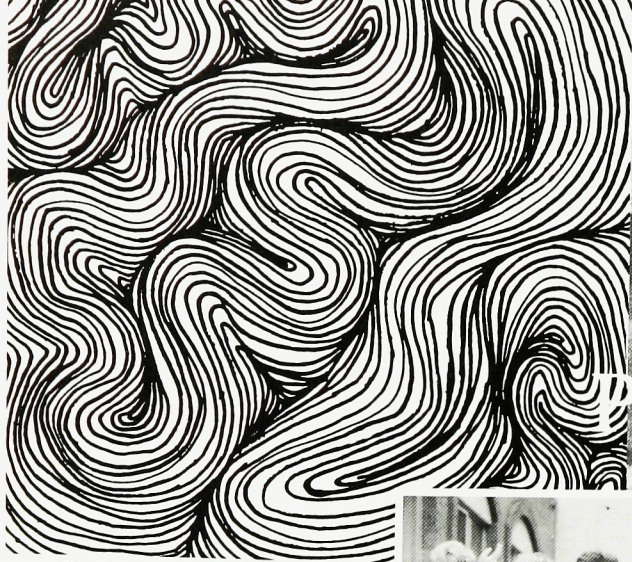

To ease the tension in the often friction-filled office, our resident Texan sure came in handy! Probably the only part time Copy Editor/part time Disco Queen in America, Diane had the great ability of getting us to laugh when we needed to (and when we needed to be yelled at, she was always the person that did that best). Thanks to Diane, the 'I'm macho, I put bottles of the things I drink up on the wall' wall came into existence.

Poor Yuka. What's a nice, great girl doing hanging around such instable degenerates? We don't know the answer to that question, all we know is that we'd be lost without her! The yearbook office's everything-woman, Yuka knows how to do everything from dittoing to falling asleep while laying out pictures (see photo)!

Although North Shore's Business Editor is almost never seen in the office, she can be seen performing her financial wonders practically everywhere else. Completely self-efficient, Molly has been the ironwoman of a staff who needed a breather every once in a while. In times of stress, this Guardian Angel has appeared out of nowhere, giving desperate and starving yearbook staffers unexpected food blessings.

And all the while, 'he' watched on. The mysterious Raoul, - The Masked Avenger- who, with an, 'Oh no!' as his battle cry, filled in on many a week end, taking necessary pictures and developing an endless stream of others. THANK YOU.

This year the newspaper went through radical changes. From overhauling the name to overhauling the format, the staff feels that The Diller Street Journal is the best student publication ever.

The school community was wary when at the beginning of the school year Michael Conroy announced the upcoming 'improved newspaper'. His journalism class spent almost four months learning how to write news articles, feature articles, sports articles, and editorials.

The first edition was so well received, Headmaster Richard Hall informed students and their families that paying for subscriptions was no longer necessary. Publication funding was juggled so the Journal's $800 budget was expanded to approximately $2000.

The Diller Street Journal is now an effective vice for communication and expresion of both concerns and news. The sense of pride that the staff feels can be seen through their work on the newspaper. We are cofident that under the direction of Michael Conroy and from the continuing support of the school's administration, The Journal will endure, grow and strengthen.- Editor-

The 1986-87 GAPA had the intention of accomplishing a lot for all of the girls. Homecoming was our first challenge. With the exception of the misunderstanding about the balloon, everything went well. Since we had extra candy, we decided to sell it at Morning Ex. We also have wonderful NSCDS bags which was a great fundraiser! We decided to spend the money on an advertisement page...So turn to the back and see all the GAPA GIRLS!!

North Shore's Rock n Rollers

North Shore rocks on. With a sound/electronics system so extensive the city of Chicago's lights dim ever so slightly when it is turned on, Jon Oakley is able to achieve any sound which strikes his fancy - from a jazzed up version of On Broadway to a revamped interpretation of Mozart. The dude known simply as "Hoff" continues to wow his audiences with a remarkable proficiency in three instruments. Dispelling all rumors of a brief hiatus from music after his rather rocky departure from the Ska'sters last year, dead head Jordan Rosen continues his own ventures in many an obscure place during random free periods. The Ska'sters are far from gone, however. With the ever-improving Hoff and Oakley, in addition to rockers Howie, David Geist, Chapin and vocalists Leslie Carroll and Bridget Zieserl, they hope to make a bigger impact than last year. To all of North Shore's very own prodigies: ROCK AND ROLL FOREVER!!!

This year, volleyball went from O.K. to a great season. The first and second strings both miraculously improved and we all enjoyed playing in the games as well as cheering in the sidelines. Practice went well and all of our skills improved as the days went on. Our coaches, Amy and Burt, really encouraged us! We ended the season with a great 7-1 record. YEA!

Hopefully in time, this years varsity football team will be remembered as more than just another team that missed the playoffs. Racing to a 4-0 record early in the year, the Raiders lost two straight games to give us 4-2, with three weeks left. Winning our next game over Rockford Lutheran in a grand manner, the playoff outlook looked good. But the following week we lost to Marseilles. With the playoff hopes erased, the Raiders went into the last game of the year against Wheaton Christian, playing for pride. Thrashing Wheaton for a victory, the Raiders ended up 6-3. While for some this may be considered a disappointing season, the Raiders did achieve some moral victories.

The soccer team was quite successful this year. We started out with a very strong attitude that we were going to win. By the end of seven games we were 3-3-1. We were half way through the season at .500. This is three times better than last year.

Despite the fact we did not win any more games, we kept the winning attitude and kept every game close. We worked as a team and played as a team.

Our goalie, a senior but a rookie, had an incredible season. He should be very proud of himself, along with the rest of the team. Even the J.V. players that got a chance to play in varsity games contributed to the fullest.

Thanks to every soccer player for a great season.

This year's field hockey team started off winning the majority of our games. We had a great team and a lot of spirit. We were fortunate to get many good members, and we will be sorry to see our older ones leave. Although our scores didn't show it all the time, we had a great amount of talent, enthusiasm, and umph. But most of all we had fun and learned that "Those who have the will to win cannot be beaten."

VOLLEYBALL

Victory ?

This year the volleyball team had an awesome year. We pretty much had the same team as last year so we improved tremendously. To show you our improvement we had a winning season and only lost to two teams in our league.

Special memories:

The candy and sugar that Mrs. Campos always brought us which helped raise our adrenalin to play a whole match.

"No U.S. Volleyball practice today..."

De-panting (Carolyn, Bridget, Patty)
(Why was Andrea always the target?)

And we certainly mustn't forget our premiere co-captains, Courtney and Andrea, who did an awesome job!

And a special farewell to Caren, Dimitria, and Andrea who will be departing this year.

Classic Crego nonchalance.

What, with a new coach and only several returning members, the Girls' Tennis Team had a pretty good season. Not to mention exciting when we won our first match in over three years! If one happened to pass by the courts during practice, one couldn't help but notice our enthusiasm bubbling forth as we practiced serves, volleys, backhands, forehands, and of course our ups'n downs! Our jovial spirits were kept up each afternoon as Mrs. Migaki held up her own optimistic character in order for us to work and have fun at the same time. And we did have fun! Throughout the losses and that one WONDERFUL WIN we enjoyed ourselves and kept close, as the team spirit thrived!

This year's Varsity Basketball team has been somewhat of a surprise. Although the team won their share of big games, little breakdowns prohibited us from winning many more close games. We lost three games by three points or less after leading in all of them. There has been a steady improvement throughout the year ranging from a third place finish in the Kirkland Hiawatha tournament, to a second in the Alden Hebron tournament, a blowout of MPA, the comeback victory over Elgin Academy, and, of course, the upset of Francis Parker. This was probably the most gratifying win of the year because of the long stemming rivalry between our two teams. But because we didn't start turning things around until late in the year, we really did not make a run for the ISL title. A record lingering around .500 just was not going to do it this year.

FALL SHOW, 1986...

As the leaves began to collect in enormous piles upon the ground, the North Shore Drama Dept. busied themselves with the putting on of the fall play, Pygmalion. There are many problems that need to be dealt with when assembling a show like Pygmalion; namely, there are dialect dilemmas, everything must be done in period, and, of course, there is the ever present problem of line memorization. When one also considers the fact that there were only three weeks of rehearsal, it becomes clear that the show was a true challenge.

Needless to say, the entire department met this challenge fearlessly and courageously. Putting in long hours, the stage crew constructed an ingenious set which allowed the transition from Henry Higgins' complex apartment to the elaborate house of his mother to take place quickly and quietly. Along with a very capable production crew, the show backstage was always under control. The overall professionalism of the show can be mainly attributed to the talents of Roger Shipley and Carol Radloff, two faculty members who deserve so much more appreciation that they frequently get.

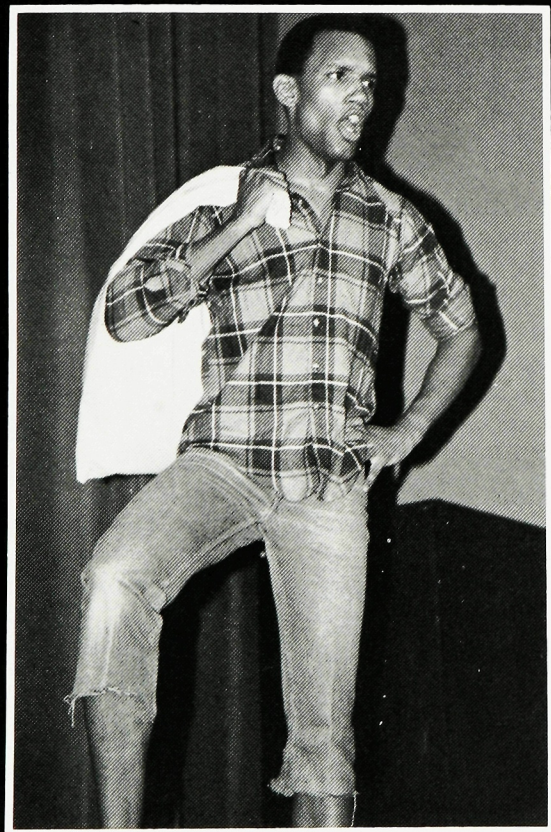

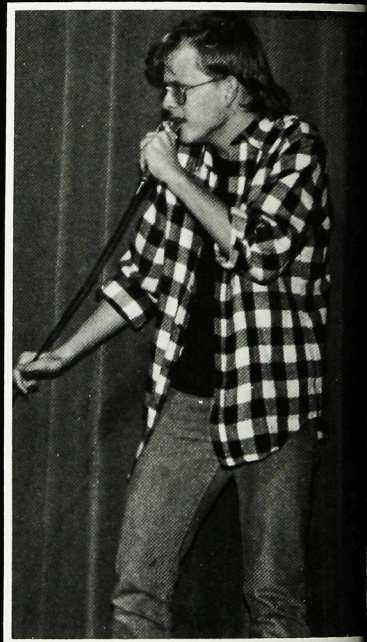

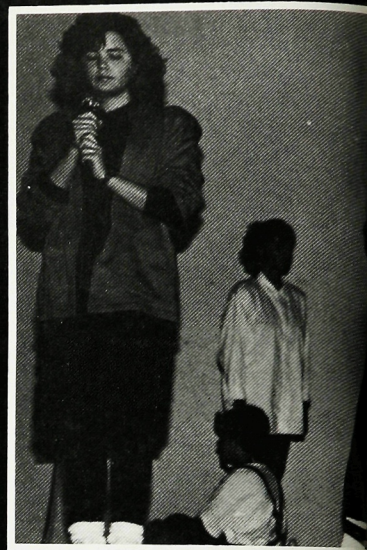

As a senior in my last dramatic production, I can honestly say that Pygmalion, as a whole, was the most satisfying show I have been in. In addition to the gallant stage crew, the cast spent many late nights learning not only their infinite number of lines, but also trying to establish that intangible stage chemistry which is present all too rarely in high school productions. Performance nights, particularly Friday, culminated all our hard work into terrific performances. Thank you, Pygmalion-people, for giving me one last show to remember and for giving the audience the best fall show in several years - keep it up!

Homecoming

Homecoming is a time for the alumni of a school to reminisce and to see the changes that have taken place in their old school. For the football coach it usually means a tough game that he is expected to win. All of that was true again this year, but something else very special was happening. A building on campus where a good number of the alumni over the past 26 years have spent hundreds of hours took on a new name: The Mac McCarty Gym.

It is quite humbling to have a building named after oneself while still alive and vigorous enough to make use of it! But as honored as I was, I would have given up that pleasure for the satisfaction of a victory on the football field. Homecoming of '86 has become a bittersweet memory for me. It was a great pleasure to see all the alumni again; however, I wish we could have celebrated a victory together.

-M.J. McCarty

HALLOWEEN

Ghosts... goblins... witches... Rambo look alikes... Walter Payton fans... what would Halloween be without all of these? Something tells me it just wouldn't be the same. The traditional costume parade in the auditorium brought back many memories, especially for the seniors. We reflected on the days that we had spent up there, not just for Halloween, but for Christmas and music programs as well. We also thought about the numerous Halloweens on which our kindergarteners would pass across the stage in yet a different costume. Although our last Halloween, we got into the spirit nonetheless. After all, Halloween is for kids and we are kids at heart!

Work day has always been an exciting event. This day can be taken seriously because we rake leaves, plant bulbs, and do other types of yard work. This day also includes fun, friendship and cooperation. The day commences with the usual meeting of the grade to which you are assigned. After having donuts and apple juice, we started raking leaves and planting bulbs. After this hard work, we ate lunch listening to the band play. After lunch, we saw a magic show that both amazed and baffled us. In the afternoon, the high schoolers obliged the requirement of a social service by raking leaves for the elderly. This was greatly appreciated because these particular people could not rake their own leaves. This entire tradition of helping others helps Work Day be such a rewarding experience.

-Lauri Reagan

Interim Week 1986 87

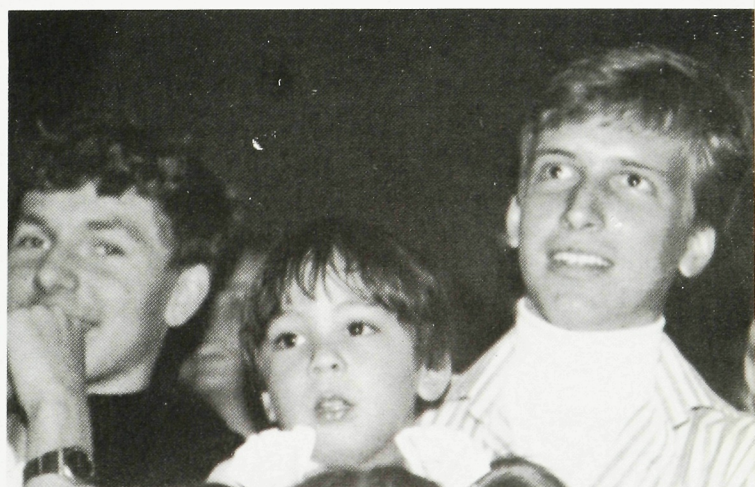

If there is a more unpredictable phenomena in the North Shore universe than Morning Ex, one is hard pressed to find it. From the general consensus of the Upper School community, the all school assemblies have ranged from the very worthwhile to the utterly absurd. Finding ways to interest the involuntary audience has, over the years prompted such exhibitions as: "My Fifty Years in Chad," "Toad Goes Home," and of course, the classic, "Dead Trees." There have been lectures on sewage systems, several musical recitals, the dramatic escapades of Automatic Parts, a powerful production from the South Side of Chicago, and an annual fairy tale. As an audience member, whether a talker, a sleeper, a homework-catcher-upper, a simple watcher, or a race-for a donut- right after Morning-Ex-er, Morning Exercise will always be an emotional roller coaster.

Thanksgiving 1986

Thanksgiving at North Shore is a time for helping others who aren't as fortunate as we are. This year, a special emphasis was placed upon the donation of good books - a benefit which most of us take for granted. Representatives from each grade presented their favorite childhood books and donated them to the needy. Hopefully, this spirit of giving will continue.

Ceremonies Saturday

North Shore Country Day will dedicate gym to 'Mac'

Here we go again! Another tribute to Mac. The funny thing is that he deserves them all. When Mac's name comes up many things come to mind. The first is probably football, but then there is Biology, Baseball, and Basketball, which is now being played in his gym, the Mac McCartney Gymnasium. Since he helped design it and has spent a large chunk of his life there, it is only right that it be named for him. Mac has always said that sports can teach just as much as school can and that there is no excuse for laziness. If you have a problem you can go talk to him anytime. He always finds time for the important things. He tells things straight out and is not going to mislead you. If you mess up or make a great play you will hear about it, but when it's over, it's over. All Mac wants is your best and if you give it, you should have no problems. Every school should have someone like Mac, a great coach and even more than that, a great friend.

Ho, Ho, Ho !....

Dance Fever grips North Shore.

In the Chirstmas spirit.

In his great excitement to be at North Shore, Santa drops his hat.

Although there was no snow to be seen anywhere, Santa was nonethelss delighted to pay his annual visit to North Shore's Christmas festivities. As is the custom, Santa was seated before the entire school body and a throng of enthusiastic alumni and family members to see the usual ritual of Christmas dances performed by the various grades. Before beginning the ceremonies, lifers Bill Bach, Fred Scott, Joel Jacobson, and Lauri Reagan read, T'was the Night Before Christmas and introduced each number. Unfortunately, fellow lifer Chris Avery was nowhere to be found. As each group was called to the dance floor, each person would donate a present to the needy in a good gesture of holiday spirit. After a very boisterous dance by the faculty, the Kindergarten and Seniors once again stole the show with their enlightening rendition of the "Hokey Pokey." Santa was on his feet before the end of the performance, joining in on a very happy time for the North Shore family.

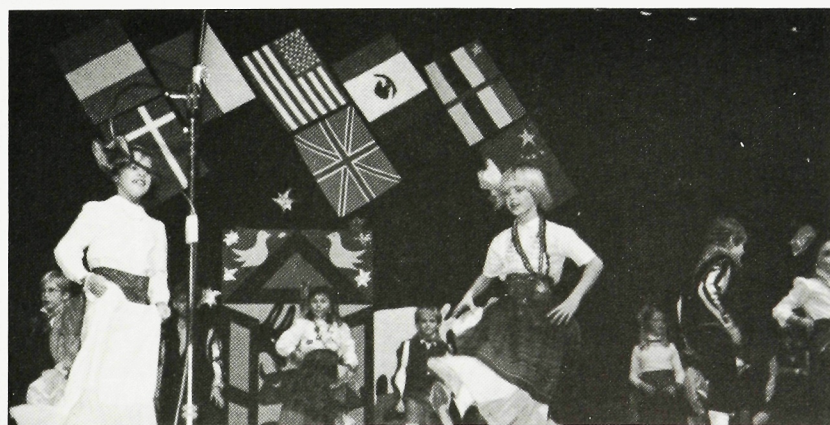

At right: The 1986-87 Kindergarten Class (or part of it). Nuff said.

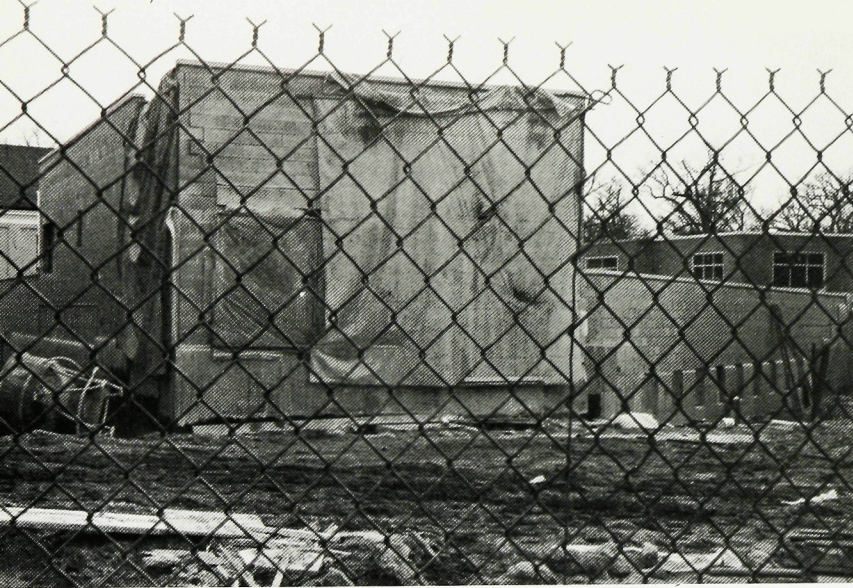

Also this Christmas, the Lower School put on a show illustrating how Christmas is celebrated in different parts of the world. The foreign exchange students of the Upper School were involved, detailing their own particular customs to the Morning Ex. audience. As usual, the Lower School had an elaborate performance featuring great costumes (see pictures) and music in the Gibson tradition: students singing and playing their own instruments.

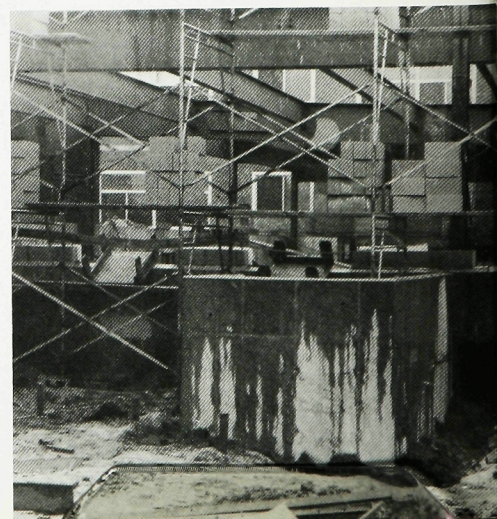

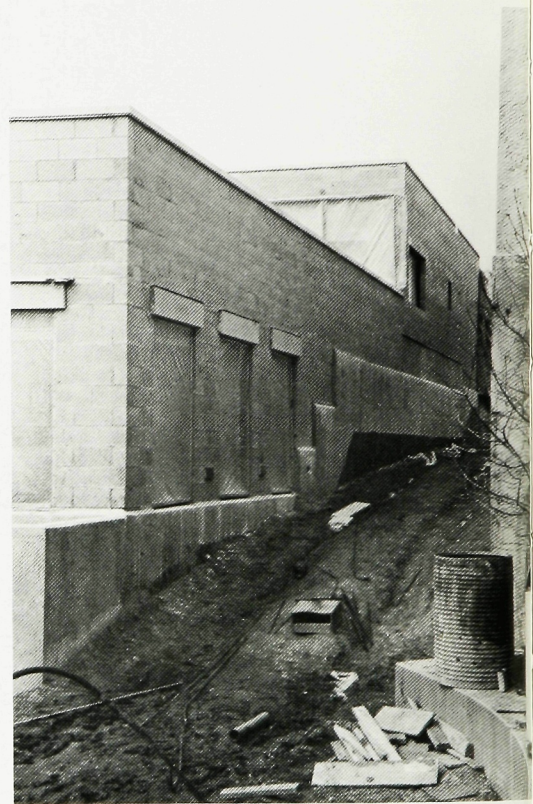

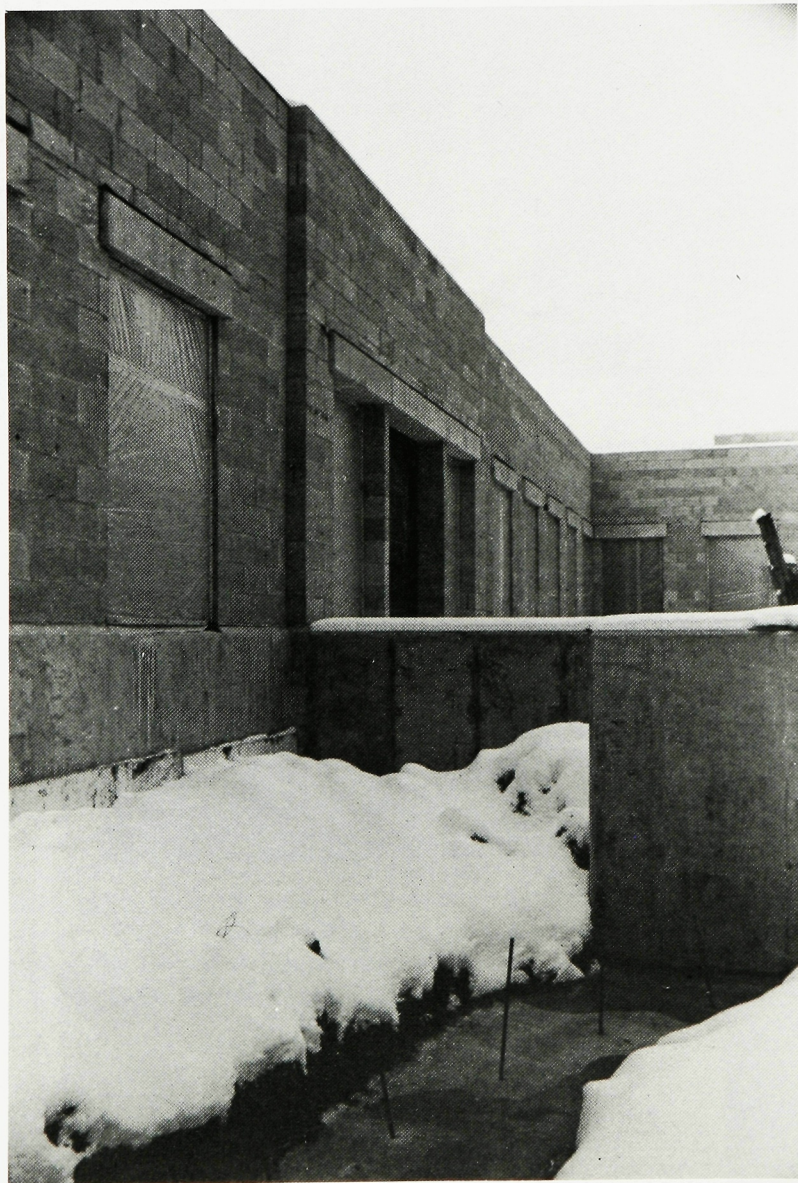

...Christmas 1986!!!

Under Construction

When the summer began to slip away, the first of the trucks arrived. And behind the cold blacktop and ominous fences, construction of the new library began.

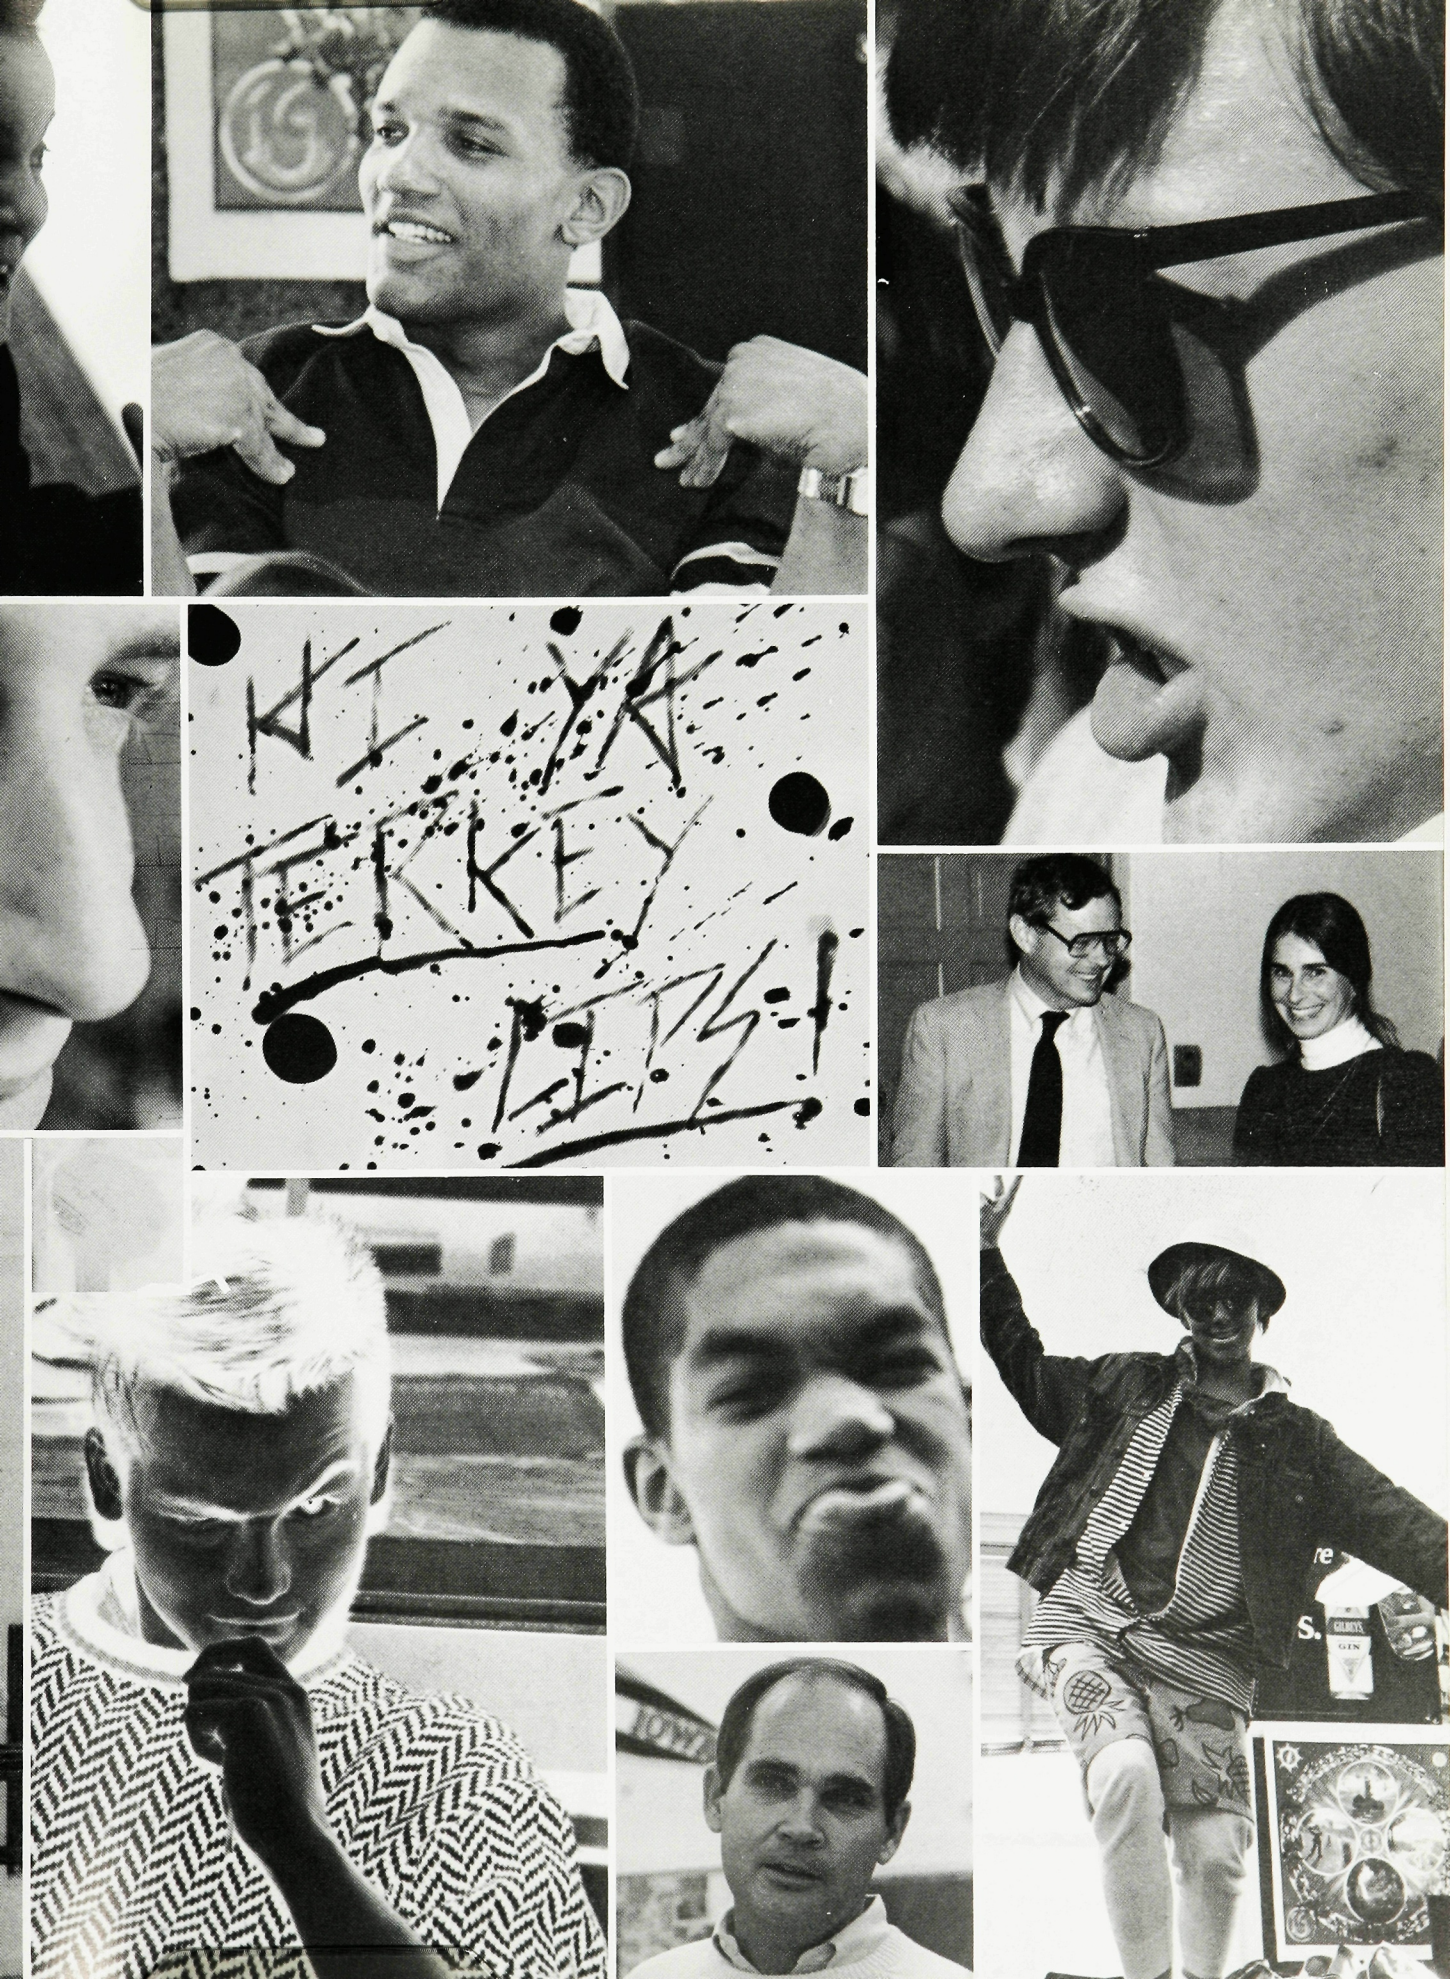

As the walls of this grey building rise, so do our hopes and suspicions. How extensive will the resources of the new library be? Is the difference significant enough to warrant a new building? What new programs can be enacted with the additional facilities that will become available? How will the admissions office benefit from this project? How will the student body benefit from this project? Are there trees in existence that will grow on building roofs? These questions are just the beginning of a series of inquiries which indicate the excitement the entire North Shore community has for the new library.

Maintenance

GEORGE MITCHELL, SR.

Maintenance Head and Transportation Director

Without the terrific maintenance crew at North Shore, the school would literally stop functioning. Many people take the shovelled pathways in the winter, the clean floors in the buildings, and the neatly cut grass on campus for granted. These are just some of the endless responsibilities the maintenance crew undertakes responsibly and modestly. With such friendly and colorful personalities as "Junior," "Joe," "Stash," and "Stormin' Norman" - all led by the classiest man on campus, George Mitchell- the crew is able to do their work while remaining courteous and considerate. Cheers to the unsung heroes!

A Senior Halloween Party with pumpkins and charm!

The snowy winter months were hardly slow,
For they were filled with giving to the needy and the Christmas show.

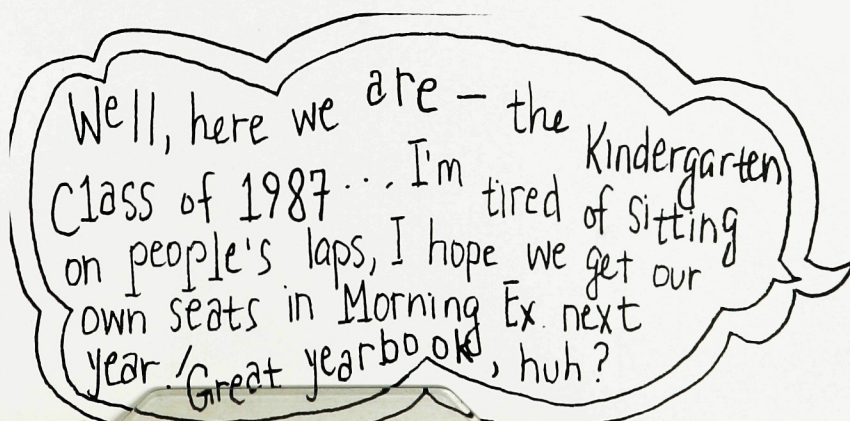

The North Shore Christmas party was loads of fun,
But Al's Beef was definitely number 1!

A fun sledding party we surely did go,
We had a blast with "Big Jim" and the white, fluffy snow.

Spring time arrived with a welcoming smile,
But surely didn't last a very long while.

A swim party and a senior farewell were the highlights of the season, Growing, learning and laughter took place and North Shore Country Day was the reason!

Last row: Jeremy Hill, Erin Abrams, Stephanie Star, Yuko Tateishi, Francesca Krom, Mrs. Abelmann.

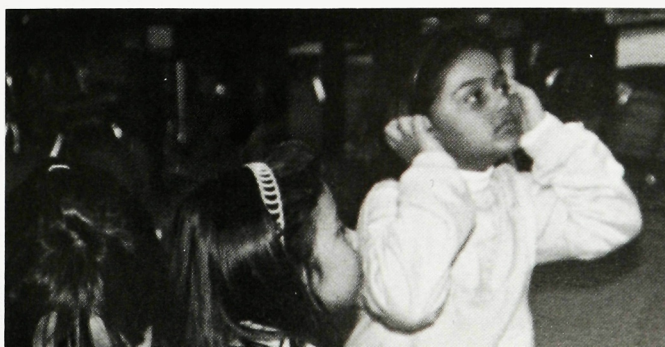

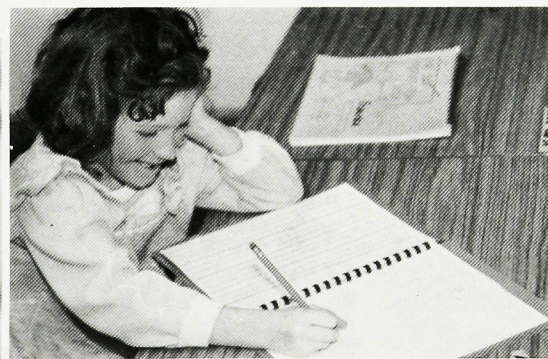

This class, First Grade 1986/87, has had an exciting year with front row seats to a fantastic construction show. We have seen a giant crane swing I-beams into place (at first we thought it was a dinosaur outside our window but it was just a crane); we have seen men walk across these I-beams to bolt sections into place; we have seen cement pumps pour cement on the library roof with long snake-like hoses! It has been an unusually exciting, wonderful, very good year!

First graders have been busy creating a village in the classroom complete with a post office, travel agency, police and fire station, as well as a bank and an emergency room. Our taxi cab, with lights and buzzers, gets us wherever we want to go.

A viking ship sailed in the room when we studied explorers. We learned about Captain Cook, Stanley and Livingstone, and Jacques Costeau among others.

The First Grade Publishing Company was very busy as each of the students became prolific writers and published many books. It was fun to hear the authors read their books. Reading, writing, and 'rithmetic, taught to the tune of the construction machines tell the story of the wonderful first graders, a super group that knows how to learn and have a good time at the same time!

From their third floor windows, the second graders have had a birds eye view this past year of the construction of the new library. Suitably inspired, inside and outside the classroom the children engaged in their own construction projects, everything from devising elaborate marble roll structures to the building of miniature cities and giant snow forts.

At one point during the late fall, the construction made it necessary for the heat to be turned off for several days in the Lower School. The second graders rallied by carting firewood to school and keeping a warm fire blazing in the fireplace. Classes were held on the hearth, interrupted only for periodic marshmallow roasting and the telling of a tall tale.

The warmest memory, however, was of Lluís, our special upper school friend from Spain. He came to the class to help plan the December holiday show. He was so well liked that the second graders made him a book and dedicated several other published books to him during the year.

Collecting family history over the winter holiday led to the preparing and sharing of favorite family recipes. Encouraged by their culinary expertise, the second graders opened their own Chinese tea house. Accordingly, the Spanish and French lessons evolved into Chinese lessons.

From animal reports in February to the celebration of Chicago's 150th birthday in the spring, the second graders were always on the go and definitely in the know!

The fourth grade has put on an opera, visited a candy factory, studied the evolution of man and published many many books. This is a year of firsts - a set of twins, typing on a computer and studying crayfish. Whether writing in a dialogue or a reading journal, reading novels or the Scholastic News, learning strategies to solve word problems, the 1986-87 fourth graders are a fun, spirited and eager group of nine to ten year olds.

This year the Seventh Grade was, well, let's just say it was interesting. We came to school one early September morning and, to our surprise, we were now living in the high school! From class to class, we happily went. From our trip to the Saab garage to our walk to 'McDonalds', the Seventh Grade had a great time. From the more serious tone of the Children of War Tour to the more fun 'tour' through Marshall Field's, we all loved it!

Even though the eighth grade this year was small, we still had a lot of fun. We all got in our tizzes and got caught in the act too. One moment that the eighth grade will never forget is Innisfree! ## THE FRESHMAN CLASS

I can't speak for everyone, but in my opinion, this year's ninth grade was incredible. Everybody contributed that special part of themselves to make our class not just a class, but a close group of friends. Everyone was allowed to be themselves; they weren't expected to fit into the stereotype of "the well-rounded-in-all-areas" student. There was no "I hate her," or, "Are you on my side or her side?" The new students were accepted quickly and soon became an active part of the grade. Every student helped each other out when a problem arose, and no one outright "hated" anyone else. It was a crazy, wild, unforgettable year.

usual state...

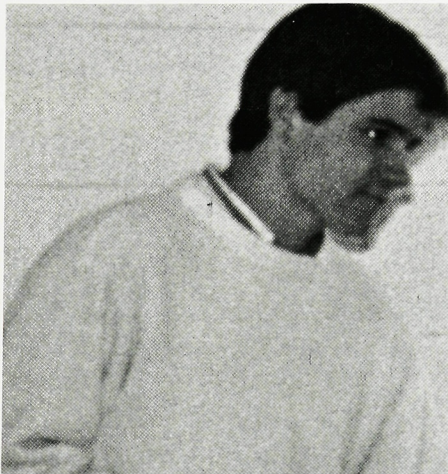

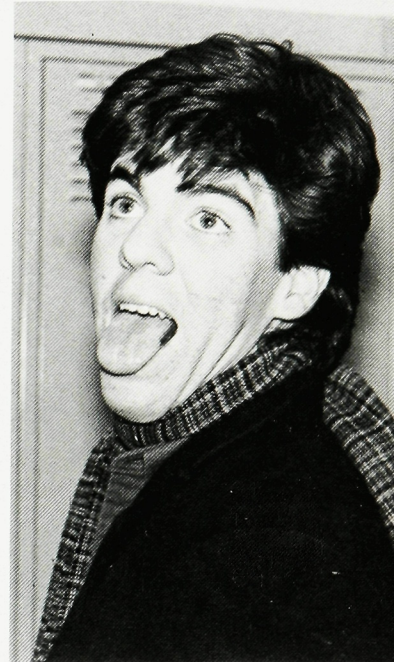

Well, this year was, to say the least, LONG. Don't you HATE it when you have a bunch of smart kids in your class? We did. (Sorry, guys.) Along with, of course, the mandatory music snobs, sports snobs, and drama snobs. Isn't integration a wonderful thing? But this year was a first for a lot of us in many ways:

- Our first hip English teacher
- Our first year of Freshman squashing at lunch
- Our last year of underclassmanship
- Our first exposure to a traditional English pudding.
- Our first year of high school except for last year.

Are you confused yet?
And from our script writers:
All of last year was a dream.
A hideous, hideous dream.
Have a nice day.

The Junior Class of 1988 is very unique for the individuality of each person. In my opinion, the Junior Class is less dependent on each other to make up their own personality. The groups that make up the junior class are very close friends and care about each other a lot. It seems as though our Junior Class is very well rounded. They are not only caught up in school, but they are concerned about their social status too - Brian Dole, for example. Brian Dole is a perfect example of the Junior class: he is great at all sports, he is very smart, and is friends with most people in the school. But, overall, the Junior class is definitely the best class in the school because I am in it.

THE SENIOR CLASS

The senior class of 1987 can best be described as FUN! This class really knew how to have fun with the faculty and the students.

The senior homeroom was our domain and most of the action either took place in there or out of its windows. At any moment in the homeroom, anything could happen, but it didn't matter because we would always laugh.

We got along well with each other, got to know each other better, and had a fantastic year. Without a doubt, this class was 'AWESOME'!

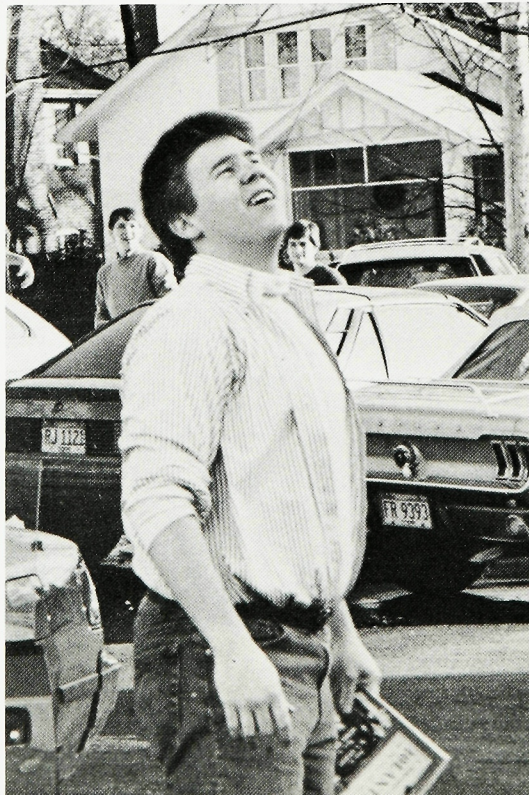

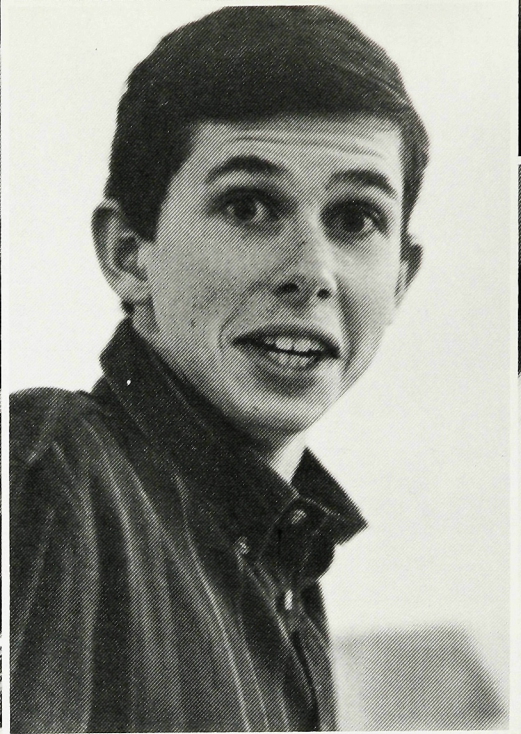

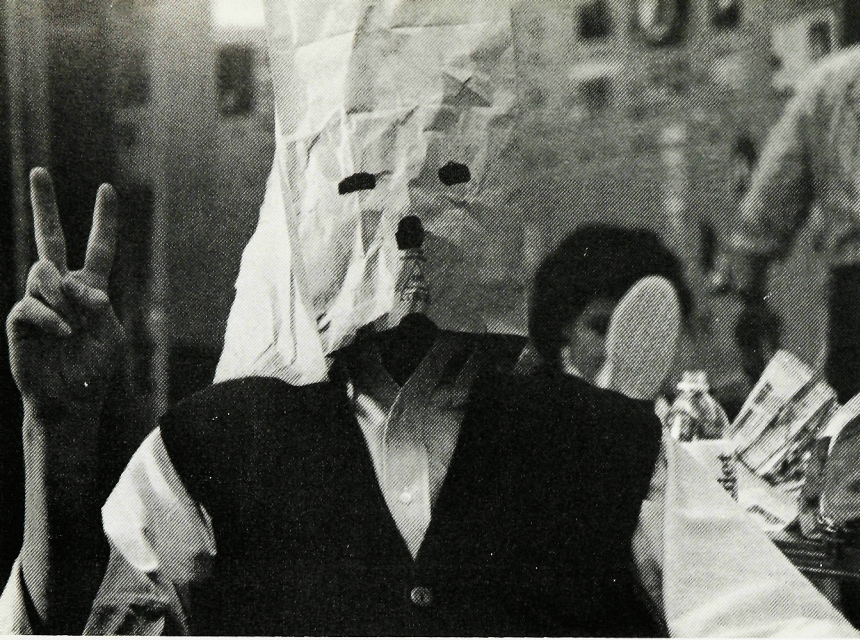

-Chris Avery

EXCHANGE STUDENTS

I left Barcelona because I was tired of being oppressed by a very competitive and study-centered environment. In North Shore, although studies are not forgotten, there is a better opportunity to participate in sports, artistic activities, etc. The fact of being a small school is also a positive contrast with my big Spanish school:

the size allows everybody to know each other and to be a relatively solid group.

To spend a year as an exchange student in a foreign country like America means to leave everything at home except clothes, pencil and yourself and start new. It means also to slip into the uncomfortable role of a child, who asks a lot of questions. It presents itself, however, as a valuable year for yourself. Besides the Bears, hamburgers, Yellowstone and NSCDS, I met a number of nice people, especially in D.S., R.J., J.R., B.H.,...

Going back to China this year, I would like to suggest everybody come and visit or stay in North Shore Country Day School as long as he could whenever it's possible. The reason I advocate that NSCDS is really a special place for developing one's intelligence and personality. Studying in small groups and participating in different school activities such as Interim week and Vaudeville could be more help to children who wish to have outstanding skills and strong abilities. That's also the most important part that the Chinese education lacks of. Another reason I appreciate and recommend North Shore is that it has a strong International program. When the kids of low school put on the play from your own country on the stage, and they are really cute, you couldn't help thinking it's really a small world. And when the school sent the Dominic shopping coupons to your home parents in Shanghai, China, you just couldn't stop laughing into tears.

LIFERS!

The five seniors that have been here since kindergarden are in a class by themselves. At times it seemed unbearable to remain here all fourteen years. We have withstood teachers such as Mr. Davis, Mr. Dione and Mr. Thornburg, all of whom helped us grow into the awesome beings that we are now. Even though we might look forward to graduation, in the long run, we will miss it.

Senior Prophecies

A friendly poke at the Class of 1987...

Heavy metal rock n roller Adele Robinson suffered a mild injury when she slammed her head through a brick wall. When asked of her motives Robinson replied from her hospital bed: "I'm just a Savage-type of woman."

Yesterday in court lawyer Alex Silets declared that the defendant was guilty of violating the Thirty-Sixth Amendment. When informed that there is no Thirty-Sixth Amendment, Silets turned bright red, sat down, and mumbled, "Well at least I'm saying something."

Secretary of the Treasury of the United States Ari Kogut announced that the familiar head of George Washington on the one dollar bill will be replaced by the bust of ex-Chicago Bear Linebacker Wilbur Marshall. "It was either him or Dave Duerson," said Kogut.

The entire city of New York suffered a momentary power outage Tuesday when keyboardist Jon Oakley's sound system short circuited someplace in New Jersey. "I'm really sorry," apologized Oakley, "it'll never happen again. I'm getting my own nuclear power plant for Christmas."

Pop artist Ned Wolpert was seen in Soho NOT WEARING BLACK.

Elite socialite Heather Utzinger, seen hobnobbing with mentor and close friend Zsa Zsa Gabor, was overheard boasting that her stomach muscles were more firm than Mr. Universe Brian Dole's. Judging from her recent Ms. Nautilus posters, this rumor may, in fact, be true.

Rick Janson was rushed to the hospital for a severe case of frostbite. Paramedics had to peel Janson's hands from the hose he was using to wash his Porsche 928 in the below zero arctic weather. When questioned of his reasoning to wash his car at 34 below, Janson became visibly furious and yelled defensively, "It was dirty, okay?!!?"

It was discovered that Ansgar Tump is not good at ALL sports. Tump, a member of Germany's national handball team and a former North Shore Soccer superstar, threw three consecutive "gutter balls" on Bowling for Dollars.

Molly Lynne Shotwell Secord Larmer Wilson Savard Sauve Olczyk announced her recent engagement to a particular Murray Bannerman. When questioned on the subject, Shotwell refused to divulge Bannerman's profession saying only that, "I have a feeling that this marriage will last."

After sixteen years the Illinois Supreme Court has ruled that McDonald's does in fact owe David Pascal the sixty-three cents he was allegedly "short-changed" in 1983... Pascal was reportedly elated with the results.

Ultra conservative, yuppie extraordinaire Jordan Rosen has decided to sell his record label, DeadHead Inc. When asked of his decision, Rosen was quoted as saying, "It is definitely too liberal. Sex, Drugs, and Rock and Roll... yechhh."

Andrea Nash has patented her new product "the Unbreakable Walkman with Taste." This remarkable device, which operates without batteries, has state of the art features. Unfortunately, the apparatus will only play cassettes by the Police, Roxy Music, George Winston, spitting out all Menudo, Kool and the Gang, and chewing up any Huey Lewis.

Singer Lauri Reagan has once again been honored with UPI's Most Polite Person of the Year award. It is the third consecutive year the prim and proper superstar has received this accolade. "I think common courtesy is something which should be taken for granted," she said modestly.

Motorcycle gang member/Renegade Diane Prince was seen driving through Beverly Hills on her Harley with her gang, the Pink Ladies. Rumor has it Prince is in search of her true love, the legendary Pee Wee Herman.

NASCAR race driver Cary Kelly won his second Indy 500 Saturday afternoon. His McDonald's sponsored race car, the infamous Chrysler Lancer, averaged a record 300 miles per hour. His speed, however, was irrelevant to his victory, as Kelly ran every driver off the track by the third lap.

Although it has not been confirmed, it is believed that the owner of the BMW 2002 seen driving away from the largest junk food theft in history is none other than health food freak Fiona McDonagh. Among the items stolen: Combos, Raspberry Soda, and White Hen Pizza. McDonagh was unavailable for comment.

Psychologists all over the world are disappointed. After spending years studying the life of this NSCD alum because of his apparent psychological phenomena, their work proved to be all for naught. Wednesday, Pat Strong was seen actually losing his temper. Apparently Strong has been sneaking into his closet and having temper tantrums for years, unbeknownst to the world. This is the biggest medical fraud in history.

Because of the apparent lack of space in this yearbook, graduate Marcy Stern is publishing her 200 page novel, "My Entire Senior Page." This book, available in bookstores everywhere, has lyrics to every Billy Joel song in it, as well as thirty-six pictures of every person she has ever met. Stern, reportedly, was displeased with the novel. "Not enough room for stuff," she sighed.

"Eddie Murphy meets Godzilla" opens in theatres nationwide on Thursday. The director of the film, Larry Williams, is perhaps best remembered for directing last years' top grossing film, what many experts believe to be his critical look at his own childhood: "No, You May NOT Have a Cert."

MIT Graduate Julie Pokorny announced Thursday that she has succeeded in deriving a mathematical formula from which, by solving for Shakespeare, one may determine which characters are true Aristotelian tragic heroes. The formula, I=MGC, "...is a much simpler solution to the tragic hero dilemma," said Pokorny. "I mean, it's much more interesting than say - reading the play."

Renowned neurosurgeon Fred Scott lost his third patient of the week Tuesday when he showed up forty minutes late for the operation. Scott, apparently just awakened, burst through the operation doors just as his patient expired, frantically waving a white early-check in slip over his head yelling, "I was here, I was here!"

At her recent pottery exhibition in California, Kristen Alm proudly unveiled her lifesize ceramic portrait of the Grateful Dead, of which she exclaimed, "They're so hip!" and off she fled to their concert.

Last seen in jodpurs, riding hat, and crop in hand, Cindy Brennan was cooling down her horse after her triumph at the World Equestrian Championship. When asked what she had planned to do with the prize money, she curtly replied, "What a silly question! Matching gold hubcaps for my BMW, of course."

Immediately following her academy award performance as Baby Bear in "Goldilocks and the Three Bears," Dimitria Lyn Cook was whisked away in her stretch limousine accompanied by her lover and biggest fan, Phil Collins.

Elana Fowler, subject of a recent cover article in "Psychology Today," explained her widely acclaimed techniques concerning intimidation of potential adversaries. When asked about this she smiled, giggled, and said, "Oh, it's nothing. Just a little rolling of the eyes, raising of the voice... It works wonders!"

Walking down any breakfast aisle of any food store in America, one sees the famed face of Emi Fujita on each and every Wheaties box. When questioned about her recent success as an Olympic Field Hockey Goalie, Emi replied, "It's great! They let me drive the Raider Mobile, they just won't let me dye my hair blonde."

When asked to comment on the statement, "the sky is blue," Jayne Greenburg smirked, brushed her black hair back over her shoulders, put on her sunglasses, and confidently replied, "No, I disagree." And with that, she sauntered out of the room.

Former North Shore Country Day School Women's Board President Lisa McClung has decided to relinquish some of her enormous political clout by stepping down to assume the not-as-demanding job as President of the United States. When asked what influenced this decision, McClung was quoted as saying, "Well, my father's uncle's brother's best friend, who owns a farm in Montana, once said..."

Society's well known Spanish Womanizer, Lluís Domenech was arrested at the airport last night for illegally implanting Jamaican imported bananas in his lady friend's luggage. Loverboy Lluís pleads not guilty and claims that certain bananas give him brief fits of temporary insanity.

Yesterday, Congressman Andrew Brown confirmed the validity of reports stating that he has bought out the "National Enquirer" and plans to assume leadership at "the Star" as well. Brown said at a news conference, "I plan on running the magazines and the country with as much dignity as before."

Congratulations to Thomas Beerheide for his critically acclaimed performance as Drago's younger brother, Droopo, in the recently released Rocky XVI. In preparation for the role, Beerheide went on a strict diet in order to lose excess weight and increase hair growth.

Broadway's new hit musical, "The Smurfs on Elm Street" will be starring Joel Jacobson as the infamous Papa Smurf. Jacobson, at first, was worried about the style of the smurf cap, but as one onlooker put it, "He wears it well." Jacobson has been offered a role in Madonna's upcoming film, "Papa Don't Preach."

Chef/Artist/Musician Brian Hurst surprised everyone Tuesday when he announced his decision to retire from his one man business to become a Zimbabwe priest.

Box offices will begin selling tickets tomorrow for Broadway's reproduction of "The Wiz," starring Caren Jeskey as the innocent, young Dorothy.

After months of searching, reporters finally discovered modern-art artist Alex Gramm deep in the heart of Africa's rain forests. Alex, now a tribal chief, adorned in an ornate headdress and skimpy clothing, said, "Life on the equator is great. I've got a year round tan, my own band, and I'm learning how to play the bongos. I must admit though, I do miss my high tops."

Heavy metal rock star, David Hoffheimer, went to court today in order to defend the self-expression contained in the lyrics of his latest album, "Boppin' Hoff." The musician explained that the music and words are an art form and that the parents who are complaining can simply, "Kiss off."

Mega football star Chris Avery was questioned after last week's game as to why he suddenly left the field during the fourth quarter and where he so speedily fled to in his red convertible limousine. Avery, running his fingers through his long hair, laughingly said, "I always have a slice of pizza, peanut M&M's, and a Diet Coke at that time. It was just a natural reflex, I guess."

Rapmaster B-Squared Boogie King, aka Bill Bach, recently released his 17th hit album: "Rappin' with the White Boys."

Multi-millionaire, Dan Bloedorn, finally agreed to exhibit his sports car collection at the New York Motor Show after many arguments concerning the strict security requirements for his favorite car, the Duster. Bloedorn, known for his very calm and cool manner, reportedly exploded and raged, "I'm sick and tired of getting all the bad security. Why don't you pick on somebody else!?"

Junk food junkie, Shi Xiao Feng, has announced the opening of his twenty first fast-food restaurant, "Xiao's Chow Burgers." Feng, a two hundred pound slave to sugar and grease, has recently published a book consisting some of his tastiest, speedy recipes.

我爱 North Shore. 她真是我所见过的最美的学校之一。躺在那软软的草地上, 凝视那澄碧的蓝天, 静心地聆听金色的树叶缓缓飘落到地下, 那该是种多么美妙的感觉啊!

我甚至感到我的心正跟随那些可爱的白云一起无忧无虑地翱翔。

I like North Shore. It's one of the most beautiful schools I have ever seen. The magi, as you know, were wise men- wonderfully wise men- who brought gifts to the babe in the manger. They invented the art of giving Christmas presents. Being wise, their gifts were no doubt wise ones, possibly bearing the privilege of exchange in case of duplication. And here I have lamely related to you the uneventful chronicle of two foolish children in a flat who most unwisely sacrificed for each other the greatest treasures of their house. But in a last word to the wise of these days let it be said that of all who give gifts these two were the wisest. Of all who give and receive gifts, such as they are the wisest. Everywhere they are the wisest. They are the magi.

Es ist ein einzigartiges persoenliches Erlebuiss ein Jahr in Amerika zu verleben North Shore Country Day School
bestaerkt diesen Eindruck. Dieser
Schule gelten fuer ihre Zukunft meine besten Wuensche.

Whenever you feel like criticizing anyone, just remember that all the people in the world have not had the advantages that you have had.

To play sports means to relax, to feel free, and to have fun.

I like America, especially the West. Yellowstone Park and the Grand Canyon are some of the most beautiful places I have ever seen.

But my dreams they aren't as empty as my conscience seems to be. -The Who

Oh darlin', stand by me.

I go to parties sometimes until 4, it's hard to leave when you can't find the door. -Joe Walsh

Why try to be difficult when with a little effort you can be impossible?

It's not a party until something gets broken.

"Lar, could you tape this for me?"

I like your bracelet.

Breathe, breathe in the air,
Don't be afraid to care.
Leave, but don't leave me.
Look around, choose your ground.
As long you live, high you fly,
Smiles you'll give and tears
you'll cry.
All you touch and all you see,
Is all your life will ever be.
Run, rabbit, run,
Dig the hole, forget the sun.
When at last your work is done,
Don't sit down, it's time to dig another one,
For as long you live and high
you fly,
But only if you ride the tide,
Balanced on the biggest wave,
You race toward an early grave.

Sunshine!

Mr. Ed

Must you shout too? Do not stand in this man's destined way; thus was it willed up there where what is willed can be fulfilled. Beyond that, ask no more.
-Dante

How can I explain my...driving?

I have become comfortably numb.

That's kinky, Ned.
-L.R.

All that is new, and all that is gone
All that's to come and everything
Under the sun is in tune but the Sun is eclipsed by the moon.

the moon.

Masterwork on the mall.

"Large Two Forms," a masterpiece by Henry Moore, joins with Picasso's "The Bather" and other works of art in a setting that is part of a total working, learning and recreational environment at Gould Center in Rolling Meadows.

When we planned this headquarters complex we made certain there was room for artistic as well as scientific, educational management and recreational accomplishments. Our management believes that Gould will best succeed if its people are in a stimulating environment.

The concept is working as Gould is accelerating its rapid growth as a world leader in high-technology electronics.

We welcome you to view our outdoor art on your next visit to Rolling Meadows. Gould Inc., 10 Gould Center, Rolling Meadows, IL 60008.
